

Tutor In A Box

Calendar Answers

1. We use 'a' when the next word starts with a consonant, for example 'a nuisance'.
2. You should have considered events in the book and how each character has shown their power (or lack of power).
3. Test yourself by writing them out without looking!
4. Answers may include: 'frightening', 'chilling', 'petrifying' and so on.
5. It is a command (an order or instruction).
6. These show ownership, so in this sentence it is 'her'.
7. You should have thought about what you know about the character, how they behave, what others think of them etc.
8. 'Recognise'. A verb is used for an action, state or occurrence.
9. Examples should include headline, paragraphs, subheadings and so on.
10. Your drawing should be as accurate as possible using details from the text.
11. Ask your family member what they thought of your poetry recital – what did you do well and do they have any tips for next time?
- 12/13. Hopefully you have thought about what to tell the reader to make them want to read the book.
14. I'm friends with a boy who plays the drums. A relative clause is a string of words that is linked to the noun before it (the boy in this case).
15. Your definition should be along these lines: A text which is factual and provides information to a reader.

Tutor In A Box

Calendar Answers

16. Test yourself by writing them out without looking!
17. Examples could include the type of transport (e.g. horse and carriage, car or hoverboard) or what technology is used by the characters.
18. An adjective (describing word) should be added before 'lake', for example 'tranquil' or 'silent'.
19. Answers will vary but may include locations such as a log cabin, an abandoned mansion or a remote hotel.
20. Examples may include because, therefore and consequently.
21. We can include description of their appearance or behaviour, such as quivering, having wide eyes, and their voice being shaky.
22. Neighbour is the subject and vehicle is the object.
23. Answers will vary. Hopefully you have a few memories that would make your readers laugh!
24. Hopefully you have had a think about how the word creates an image or idea for the reader.
25. Test yourself by writing them out without looking!
26. A fronted adverbial is when the adverbial word or phrase is moved to the start of a sentence. Example: Many years ago, I had a penpal.
27. Hopefully you have managed to think of a song that matches your current mood or physical state, such as happy or relaxed.
28. Examples should contain a co-ordinating conjunction such as 'and', 'but' or 'or'.

Tutor In A Box

Calendar Answers

- 29/30. Responses will vary but should include various locations from the story, such as characters' homes, school/workplace and local landmarks.
31. First person: I, me, my. Pronouns can replace nouns in a sentence.

