

1 Find a poem that is funny and think about why it amuses you.

2 Write the plural of these nouns by adding -s: parent, friend, plant.

3 Turn this statement into a question: You are cold.

4 Write your own short fairytale and read it aloud to someone.

6 Learn the spellings: old, cold, gold.

7 Write the opposite of happy, helpful and fair by adding the prefix un-.

8 Can you find some noun phrases in your reading book?

9 Turn this question into a command: Please could you close the door?

11 Add an adjective to expand this noun phrase: The owl.

12 Write the plural of these nouns by adding the suffix - es: box, brush, church.

13 Write a list of all of your friends' names.

14 Which words does the writer use in your reading book to make you feel happy/sad /afraid?

15 Learn the spellings: hold, told, even.

16 Is a dictionary a fiction or nonfiction book?

17 Add a co-ordinating conjunction: You can have blue ___ yellow.

18 How do you think your current reading book will end? What makes you think that?

19 What is the main character in your reading book like? Find some words that back this up.

20 Use 10 words to summarise your most recent reading book.

21 Do you like the title of your current reading book? Why or why not?

22 Design your own planet and write a list of its features

23

24 What is a verb? List three examples of verbs.

25 Is a fairytale fiction or nonfiction?

26 Write a poem about someone in your family and recite it to them!

27

28 What clues can we look for about where a story is set?

29 Can you describe an imaginary underground world?

30 What do you remember most about your last reading book? Why?

30 Learn the spellings: great, break, steak.